OFFICIAL REPORT OF DR. BISSELL.

Report of the Sanitary Superintendent on the Condition of the Virginia.

Important Meeting of the Health Board.

Since the last report of Dr. Bissell, the Deputy Health Officer, in charge of the hospital ship Falcon, ten additional cases of cholera have been received on board of vessel from among the passengers who arrived at deaths, since leaving Queenstown to Jen o'clock Monday morning, sixty-three. Up to that hour there were eightytwo cases still remaining in the hospital. The sudden transition of the weather yesterday, from summer heat mmits its greatest ravages during the prevalence of ex should the cold snap of yesterday continue for a day o wo longer it will prove a welcome visitor and doubt-

Affairs on board of the steamer England are progress ng finely, no symptom of the disease having as yet nanifested itself among the passengers. Dr. Anderson, after a long consultation with Cyrus Curtiss, President of the Quarantine Commission, proceeded last evening to Washington for the purpose of trying to general government to allow the Quarantine the use of some of the old hulks now out of ommission and at present lying at the Brooklyn Navy ard. The vessels thus sought for, if permission is granted, will be used for the purpose of placing such persons on board of them as are detained at Quarantine or purification. Dr. Anderson will also endeavor to ob same use as the ships; and it is understood to a Board of Health will probably soon take some action in the matter of Coney Island, which is desired for a simi-

OFFICE SANITARY SUPRINTENDEST BOARD OF HEALTH,
NEW YORK, April 23, 1866.

TO THE PHERIDENT OF THE METROPOLITAN BOARD OF

New York, April 23, 1806.
THE PRESIDENT OF THE METROPOLITAN BOARD OF HEALTH:—

SIE—I have the honor herewith to present a written report of the facts regarding the steamship Virginia, which I reported verbally to the Board on Friday last as the result of an inspection made by order of the Board. In obedience to said order Dr. Harris, Registrar of Records, and myself proceeded on Friday morning to the Quarantine office at Staten Island, and called upon the Health Officer of the port. Failing to obtain facilities to proceed further we returned to New York, and finding the police boat unavailable, hired a tug and proceeded to the lower bay, where we arrived at twelve o'clock M. We ran alongside the hospital ship Falcon, which lay not far from the Yirginia. Dr. Bissell, Deputy Health Officer in charge, then joined us. We then ran a little nearer the Virginia, the captain of which sent a small boat for us. On board the Virginia we found some fifty-six persons ill with epidemic cholera, all steerage passengers.

The captain reported that he arrived at four P. M. on the 18th, was boarded and ordered to the lower bay, where they proceeded the following morning, having been detained ever night by fog and tide. He stated that he had experienced great difficulty in restraining the indignation of his passengers at b fing left thirty-six hours without s core or message from the shore, the infected steerage being still crowded and the dead lying in boats under 15c slern, he being unable either to throw them overboard or to send a burial party on shore. He urgently request.

age being still crowded and the dead lying in boats under file silern, he being unable either to throw them overboard to sond a burial party on shore. He urgently request-ed that a tug or some vessel of greater capacity than a rewhost be used for the transfer of the sick from the hard in the burial burial was at hand. The transfer had just commenced—the arrangements for which con-sisted of one rowbeat, into which the patients were lowered by means of a rude chair, constructed from hogshead, and slung from the yardarm. Three at a time were thus transferred, each trip occupying about three-quarters of an hour. It appearing that this pro-cess was painful and tedious, Dr. Bissell and ourselves consulted with the captan, and requested him to lower and man his own boats, and assist in the transportation, which he did, thus enabling the sick to be transported consulted with the captain, and requested him to lower and man his own boats, and assist in the transportation, which he did, thus enabling the sick to be transported as fact as they could be lowered over the side. The following are the facts regarding the history of the disease, as obtained fram Dr. Cherferner, the ship's surgeon, and the captain:—The Virginia salled from Liverpool on the 4th inst., having on board fourteen saloop passengers and 1,029 in the steerage. A few of the latter were Irish, but the great majority were German and Dutch, coming cheffy from Rotterdam, Wittemburg, and various towns of Holland and Denmark. They had no knowledge, so far as we ascertained, of the existence of any epidemic in any of the places they came from or fitrough which they passed on their way to Liverpool. There is evidence, however, that in certain towns in Saxony, near which some of them had resided, the discase had appeared during the past whiter. All were perfectly well at date of sailing, and romained so until the 12th, when three persons—a man, a woman and a child—died, after a few hours' illness, with symptoms of epidemic cholera. On the following day eight persons died, with similar symptoms. On the 14th four died, and so the mortality continued up to the 18th, when the vessel arrived at this port, up to which time thirty seven had died. The disease was characterized chiefly by severe vomitting and purging of a material similar in appearance to fice water, severe muscular cramps, and family collapse, with cold, livid skin, feeble circulation, and excessive mental indifference. The course of the disease was, in the fatal cases, very brief, some dying within five hours of the time of attack. The first cases of the disease near mixing in port the disease has not materially abated, fourteen additional deaths having occurred; in all fifty-one deaths. The surgeon reports that about three per cent of all who have softened for we water discharges. The disease have recovered or are now convalescent. The disease have re

Dr. E. R. Dalton, Sanitary Superintendent—
Complaint has been made that men sent ashore at the Lower Quarantine grounds on Staten Island, for the purpose of burying bodies of persons who had died from infectious disease, do not always sufficiently cover the bodies buried, some times throwing over them only two or three inches of earth. Would it not be well to have say ten graves of proper depth always dug and ready, though some of them might become partially filled before being used? It would be but the work of a moment to clear them out, and the good will of those residing in the vicinity would be secured by such attention to their interests. Respectfully yours.

These cases were entered on the death books at Ward's Island as Asiatic cholera.

Dr. Sroxe, from the committee appointed at the last meeting on the adoption of Dr. Parker's series of resolutions introduced on that occasion in relation to the removal of the cellar population of the district, the prevention of the overcrowding of tenement houses and the publication of x sanitary circular to the people, and other means best adapted to the prevention or curs of the cholera, presented a report, which was read and debated section by section.

The Passinest thought it unfair for the Board to exclude that school of the medical profession, when they had no medical member in the Board to defend it.

Commissioner Brazes favored the extension of the invitation to co-operate with them to all medical societies of Kings county.

The following is the report as adopted:—

At a meeting of the Sanitary Committee held April 23, 1866, at which were present Mr. Schultz and Mr. Acton, Drs. Parker, Crane and Stone, it was Resolved, 1. That our engineer confer at once with Mr. Craven, of the Croton Board, and Mr. Lane, of the Brock-lyn Water Works, for the purpose of cleaning the sewers immediately.

The Parsiners thought the hospital provisions entirely inadequate to the requirements. They want more hospital vessels. He did not approve of those people who are well remaining on the vessel, surrounded by all the harrowing scenes and recollections of the epidemic on board. He had caused the sale of the barracks at Fort Lee, which were provided with accommodations for two thousand people, to be postponed by General Van Vleit, and had applied to the general government for their transfer to the Board of Health for hospital purposes, which request would no doubt be compiled with. These barracks he proposed to transfer to the Commissioners. With such a place passengers could be made more comfortable than on board ship, as they could be removed to some appropriate place in the lower bay.

After some further debate on the subject, the report was finally ordered up the arrangement of the cargo of the Endand at quarantine might possibly be so infected as to be dangerous to health if allowed to be discharged.

Our reporter in making the investigation referred to below, made the in making the investigation referred to below, made the inquiry why the disease was called ship fever, inferring from the term that the disease emanated from a ship recently from sea, when he was informed by a physician, that ship fever and typhus fever were identical, but that it took the former name from the fact that it is frequently prevalent in crowded emigrant ships, and that in the cases below referred to, it should be called by the name of typhus fever. Public attention was first called to its prevalence in Williamsterry through Captain Woglem. Of the Forty-lifth precent police, who learned that the disease was making have among the occupants of the tenement house, No. 8 North Eighth street, known as the "Wren's Nest." That officer, acting promptly in the matter, had visited the place in person and investigated the case. The house is a two story frame, twenty by twenty feet, and was in a very fifthy condition, four or five persons being hoddled together in each room. The house was found deficient in drainage, the sink was in a terrible condition and everything bore evidences of great neglect on the part of the owner and tenants. Laptain Woglom, which one of the victims to the disease had occupied, had been sold to a second hand furniture dealer in Grand street; he at once went there, selted the property and ordered its destruction by burning. The Board of Health being notified of this case, also of another house similarly infected, at No. 19 Grand street, put the cases into the charge of Dr. Conking, the Smitary Superintendent of Brooklyn, who ordered one of his inspectors, Dr. 8, K. Fisk, of Williamshurg, to act promptly in the matter, and prevent by all proper means the spread of the disease. That office first visited the house in a peat house. The house is a three story brick tenement house. The first floor is occupied as a lager beer raiseon, and the upper floors by poor persons. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

NEW YORK, April 24, 1865. Nsw York, April 24, 1868.

Your query in to-day's Herald respecting bone (x) ling establishments is one that I have been frequency tempted to put since the inauguration of the Board of Health and their magnificent promises, which have been followed by such small performance. Every few days, when the wind gets in the west, and we anticipate the enjoyment of breathing pure and healthful air, we on Murray Hill find ourselves compelled to close our doors and windows, and sometimes even to suspend, as far as possible, all respiration, so fiercely are we attacked by the most nauseous of all the vile smells that infest our city. Especially on Sunday mornings are we attacked by the demon of foul airs, and, though generally from the west, yet sometimes when the wind sets from the east. Both shores of the island are lined with these pests of bone boiling establishments, giving out more noxious and sickening vapors than all the other causes of vile smells combined. Pray stir up this dormant Board of Health, and get some relief for us from this most horrible of all smells.

MEETING OF THE NEW BOARD.

The Distribution of Licenses to be Made Through the Superintendent of Police.

Mass Meeting of German Liquor Dealers in Brooklyn.

The second meeting of the Board of Excise was held yesterday afternoon at Police Headquarters, in Mulberry street, President Jackson S. Schultz in the chair. The club known as the Scandinavian Society, whose hall is located in the Bowery, asking that they may be exempt from the law requiring a license, for the reason that no liquors are sold over the counter, and that which they use is private, and the place is kept in an orderly manner. Commissioner Acros thought if they should give this privilege to one club they would all claim to be private clubs, and thus defeat the object of the law. He was in favor of charging them for a first class license, $250. The Pussusar understood that in London and other European cities it was customary to make these private clubs exceptional.

The matter was finally referred to the Attorney for his opinion.

Commissioner Beaux said that for his part he saw nothing but difficulties in carrying out the law on all sides. It was, in tact, one of the most disagreeable and prottiest subjects that they had yet to handle, On motion the Secretary was ordered to cause ten thousand copies of blank forms of applications for licenses to be printed.

The Puszusxyr saggrested that these forms be distributed among the precinct station houses, where they could be issued by the various captains, whose knowledge as to character of the applicants would be of much valuable assistance.

ledge as to character of the applicants would be of much valuable assistance.

Commissioner Maniere moved that the blank forms be left for distribution at Police Headquarters in New York and Brooklyn.

It was finally decided that the heenses shall be dis-tributed under the direction of the Superintendent of Police.

A committee of three, consisting of Commissioners Acton, Crane and Manierre, was then appointed to con-sider and report on applications, with recommendation, at the next meeting of the Board.

Judge Bosworm thought two classes of license were not sufficient, as an injustice was done to a certain class difficulty.

On motion of Judge Bosworm the committee were or dered to take into consideration the expediency of adopting more than two grades of licenses, and report at the next meeting. The Judge hoped that as a quorum was necessary at all meetings of the Excise Commissioners there would be no absentees.

The blank forms of license will be ready on Monday next.

and Liquor law, which, it is alleged, will injure their business to a great extent. There were about five hundred persons present.

The meeting was called to order at about half-past two o'clock by Mr. Casren Unias, who fully explained the object of the meeting and what would be the results of the law in question. He characterized the law as an oppressive and despotic enactment, which ought not to be allowed to go into force in a free country. He proposed that measures should be taken forthwith to test the constitutionality of the law in an about the country of the law in the information necessary; to take measures for their pro-tection, and to consult eminent lawyers on the subject. The meeting then adjourned.
